

Kiron is an EduTech nonprofit organization that uses digital innovation to provide refugees with access to quality higher education. Kiron's program consists of tailor-made curricula, a digital platform and an extensive range of supportive services.

Office Equipment & Material for Improved Working Conditions

The Situation

While Kiron's internal strategy has largely focused on the direct support of our students and our educational concept including the Kiron education platform curriculum, which meets the rigorous standards of the European Higher Education Area and quality student services, Kironistas themselves have mastered the art of improvisation in the office regarding office equipment and office material.

Having grown from a small group of volunteers to a 80-person strong organisation, Kiron needs to catch up on furnishing the office appropriately and professionally with equipment that facilitates work and corresponds to ergonomic and business standards.

2018 needs to be the year that Kiron enters a new stage of its organisational development and professionalisation. This includes implementing strategies for staff development, but also equipping workspaces with suitable furniture and office material.

SROI for Office Investments

Research shows the positive effects of investments in office equipment: More control over workstation features given to employees leads to lower stress levels. Furthermore, optimised workstation layouts support effective work processes, which increase job satisfaction.
